MiG PART OF GROUNDBREAKING CITYCENTER DEVELOPMENT

LAS VEGAS, November 17, 2009—Brought to fruition by eight renowned architects, the CityCenter is an unparalleled urban community, a collection of resorts and residences in the center of the Las Vegas Strip. Opening to the public in December, MiG Construction helped celebrate the grand opening of the CityCenter and the role it played in bringing six major attractions to life in the Aria Tower.

The Light Group's Union Restaurant, located on the east podium of the casino floor, has a strikingly bold look. The venue features contemporary American cuisine in a hip, open layout. Strategically positioned architectural "trees" give the open space a sense of seclusion and intimacy.

Julian Serrano, a Spanish tapas restaurant, is also on the casino floor. A one-of-a-kind Corian ribbon sculpture greets guests at the entrance, while brilliantly colored tiles shine throughout the interior, warm and inviting. Diners can view the kitchen through two lighted Corian windows.

The well-known Social Restaurant finds a new home in CityCenter's Crystals™ retail mall. MiG became the contractor of choice for PURE Management Group. The project is an 8,000-square-foot, Asian-themed restaurant.

The exclusive Watch and Jewelry Store is a state-of-the-art dream, with angled, decorative textured walls; offset elliptical and oval cases; and unique, freestanding vitrines. The elaborate design is a splendor to experience from the casino floor.

The Dale Chihuly Gallery is a 4,351-square-foot exhibition space at the base of the Mandarin Tower. MiG worked with Dale Chihuly to achieve the stunning architectural features and design, including the 700-lb. floating glass sculpture at the entrance and fluid chandeliers throughout the space.

With the success of the Chihuly Gallery, MiG negotiated a contract with MGM for the Michele Quinn CENTERpiece, a retail and gallery space with events and an advisory service, featuring works mostly by CityCenter artists and architects.
