MiG CONSTRUCTION EARNS RECOGNITION FROM IN BUSINESS LAS VEGAS

LAS VEGAS, November 18, 2009—Paul Jenkins, Sr., President and CEO of MiG Construction, is pleased to announce that MiG was awarded the In Business Las Vegas 2009 Diversity in Action Award. For the first time, the publication honored local businesspeople who have made contributions in support of diversity in the southern Nevada business community.

Through its diversity assurance program, MiG utilizes the talents of partnering subcontractors to foster a team spirit in finding creative, innovative solutions for every project, regardless of size. MiG mentors other minority-owned firms, teaching them practical and useful business procedures, further strengthening the ethnically diverse and culturally rich Las Vegas workforce.

Jenkins, a fourth-generation African-American builder, turned his dream of working in Las Vegas into reality after winning the contract to build the temporary home of the MotorCity Casino in Detroit. This successful completion led to numerous large-scale projects. MiG's Vegas footprint now spans 13 properties including Mandalay Bay, Luxor, Excalibur, New York New York, MGM Grand, Caesar's Palace, Mirage and six venues in CityCenter.
